Matteüs 24:1-14

Laat dat je dan niet verontrusten, die dingen moeten namelijk gebeuren, al is daarmee het einde nog niet gekomen.<sup>7</sup> Het ene volk zal tegen het andere ten strijde trekken en het ene koninkrijk tegen het andere, en overal zullen hongersnoden uitbreken en aardbevingen plaatsvinden: dat alles is het begin van de weeën.<sup>9</sup> Dan zal men jullie onderdrukken en doden, en jullie zullen door alle volken worden gehaat omwille van mijn naam.

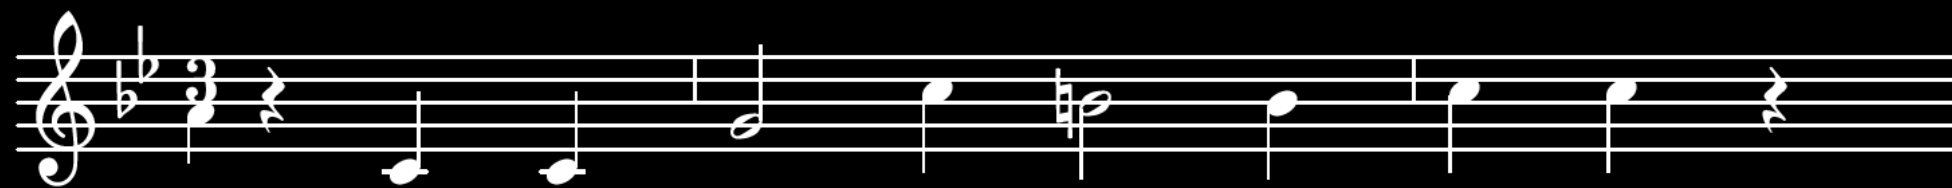

<sup>10</sup>Velen zullen dan ten val komen, ze zullen elkaar uitleveren en elkaar haten. <sup>11</sup>Er zullen talrijke valse profeten komen, die velen zullen misleiden. <sup>12</sup>En doordat de wetteloosheid toeneemt, zal bij velen de liefde bekoelen. <sup>13</sup>Maar wie standhoudt tot het einde, zal worden gered. <sup>14</sup>Pas als het goede nieuws van het koninkrijk in de hele wereld wordt verkondigd als getuigenis voor alle volken, zal het einde komen.
